Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 21 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A wet and cloudy day with light winds.

Today:
Another dreary day, with early outbreaks of rain in eastern areas, with western areas soon following. Rain heaviest in the east. Staying generally cloudy into the afternoon with further rain, though this turning lighter. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Rain turning heavier again over Devon this evening and it will persist over the east of the region overnight, leaving Cornwall dry but cloudy. Light winds and feeling mild. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Monday:
Early rain in the east will largely clear, but cloud will linger there for some time. Plenty of sunshine in the west. Light winds will strengthen overnight. Feeling mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Light rain with strengthening winds on Tuesday and Wednesday morning, before turning showery with calmer winds on Wednesday afternoon. Dry with sunny spells on Thursday. Remaining mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.